

President's Christmas Message

Over the past year and a half, all Health Professionals have coalesce their efforts and focus on the fight against the most dangerous pandemic in a century-the novel Corona virus, which continues to be a part of our lives.

Public Health Inspectors have worked tirelessly however, our roles and functions were not just limited to safe guarding our communities from COVID-19 virus; we continue to ensure that the population has safe food on their tables, clean water and a healthy environment. Disaster management support continues with the implementation of systems and policies to protect all.

We have taught the population how to live healthier lives by encouraging self-care through health promotion and maintenance with emphasis on benefits of consuming a balanced diet, personal hygiene, regular exercise, and the importance of complying with the Covid -19 protocols.

JAPHI SALUTES your steadfastness, flexibility and gallant efforts displayed during this period of uncertainty.

On behalf of the Executive body, I would like to say a most sincere and heartfelt

THANK YOU!!

We wish you and your families, a Merry Christmas & a Prosperous New Year!!!
